

Helen Harvey

I began painting as a hobby while still at school at had a "First adventure in oil painting kit" for my fourteenth birthday.

I went through a phase of wanting to go to art school but decided to follow a completely different career path.

Over the years I attended painting and drawing classes wherever I was working, in Wales, Birmingham, France, Cornwall and Weston Super Mare where my children grew up.

Now living in North Devon, I enjoy being a member of the Art for Leisure and Pleasure group here in Barnstaple.

I have worked with various media but prefer oil and acrylic. I have exhibited with Art for Leisure and Pleasure on numerous occasions.
