

Lorraine Gould

When I took early retirement in 2017, I decided to take up painting again. I found ALP and its members so friendly and helpful, but with an 18 year gap I found that I didn't have the confidence to immediately pick up my brushes again.

I tried both watercolour and acrylic which at first did not produce the required results but with perseverance and encouragement from the members and mentors I have been successful in creating paintings which have sold.

I have exhibited with ALP at various exhibitions in and around North Devon including Bideford and North Devon Hospital. Like many others I cannot express enough my gratitude to the members of ALP for their encouragement and direction.

Frontiers
Commission - Acrylic on canvas

People Watching
Watercolour on paper

Everlasting
Watercolour on paper